

PRODUCT REVIEW

Posted on: Oct 19, 2011

On The Go encore - a must have for iPod/iPhone users!

Since owning an iPhone there has never really been the need to own a standalone stereo system in the house and I have never really missed it, but when I was sent the Edifier iF350 On the Go Encore to review I haven't stopped using it. The Edifier iF350 is a portable speaker dock for you iPhone, iPod touch, iPod Nano and iPod Classic.

The unit runs from mains power, but has a built in battery allowing the unit to be taken out of the house so you can enjoy your tunes out in the garden or even down the beach.

The unit is light weight (1.5kg) and comes with a protective pouch to slide the iF350 in when traveling around. The size of the iF350 is one of its strongest features measuring just 276 x 157 x 41mm (W x H x D), making it easy to fit in a holdall.

The iF350 comes with a multitude of dock connector inserts depending on what iPhone / iPod you are going to use. As well as being a iPod dock it also has a built in FM Radio and also has an AUX function to plug in other devices such as MP3 players (3.5mm to 3.5mm lead included)

The Edifier is easy to use and has some special hidden tricks up its sleeve. When the unit is closed the back stand and dock fold up to allow the unit to be easily packed away. There unit also comes with a remote with is neatly hidden in the back of the device so that it does not get lost.

The unit comes black front colour with a clean looking white back which will makes the iF350 encore look stunning. The top of the unit supports the control buttons for the unit including a function button for swapping between the different modes (AUX, radio, iPod)

The front of the iF350 shows a 2 inch LED displaying the battery status, mode and volume. Another great feature about the iF350 is the alarm function which will not only wake you up but also but the unit to sleep after a set period of time.

The Edifier iF350 On the Go Encore holds an impressive 15 hours of playback time when using the built in battery, long enough from any BBQ in the garden.

I have personally been using the iF350 in the kitchen and I have to say that I have loved using it. The unit goes loud enough to cover all to sounds that a kitchen makes and the sound that the unit makes is crisp and clear.

The Edifier iF350 On the Go Encore is available to buy for £109.99. I personally would recommend this speaker to dock to anybody that is looking for one and with the holiday season getting close it may be worth adding it to your Christmas list.

Full Article: <http://www.mygreatiphone.com/reviews/review-edifier-if350-on-the-go-encore-speaker-dock/>